The city is famous for museums and most of them are in close proximity

When the Senckenberg Natural History Museum closes its doors in the evening, its halls are transformed into backdrops for beaming receptions, festive gala dinners and high-ranking award ceremonies. The museum is one of the most unusual event locations in Germany. Every celebration in the Dinosaur Hall, every event in the Whale and Elephant Hall is unique and incomparable.

Between sea giants and prehistoric predators, a night in the museum becomes a journey into a mysterious past.
